

the Luton South anti-social behaviour handbook

your guide to the law

by Margaret Moran MP

Introduction

This handbook is designed to help you deal with problems you may face in your street or in your community.

There are lots of different types of anti-social behaviour, including vandalism, abuse, noisy neighbours and fireworks.

Many of the problems featured in this handbook are criminal offences and can be dealt with by the police. Local councils also have powers to deal with some of the problems and nuisance behaviour.

This handbook describes many of the problems and lists the relevant law - so you have the information to request action from the police and/or your local council.

This handbook will help you use the law to keep you, your family and your community safe.

However, never put yourself in danger. This handbook is not about encouraging you to be a have-a-go-hero: when in danger you should always contact the police. If you have any suggestions for future editions of this handbook, or if you have any questions or issues to raise please contact me.

the Luton South anti-social behaviour handbook

by Margaret Moran MP
your guide to the law

This handbook is designed to help you deal with anti-social behaviour in your community: it is about making the law work for you.

It provides an easy-to-use overview of the key laws for nuisances and anti-social behaviour problems.

Margaret Moran MP accepts no liability for action you may decide to take against anti-social behaviour in your community. This handbook is a guide to the law and relevant legislation. You should always refer incidents to the Police and take appropriate legal advice when required. You should never take the law into your own hands.

For more detail on the legislation and law featured in this handbook see www.margaretmoran.org.uk
